Chapter 1 by Baconator

We are about two years after the world ended. My name is JJ and I am one of the few people who survived the virus. The virus is the worst disease on the planet it happens when you stay out in sun to long. People who have the virus are fast and they kill you and then eat your flesh and your organs. I was running low on food and I needed a new machete I would have to go to a broken down shop. But that would risk getting chased by someone who has the virus. But I had to do it.
